

YOUR LUCKY STARS

by astrologer Chris Turner

STAR PROFILE

William Shatner

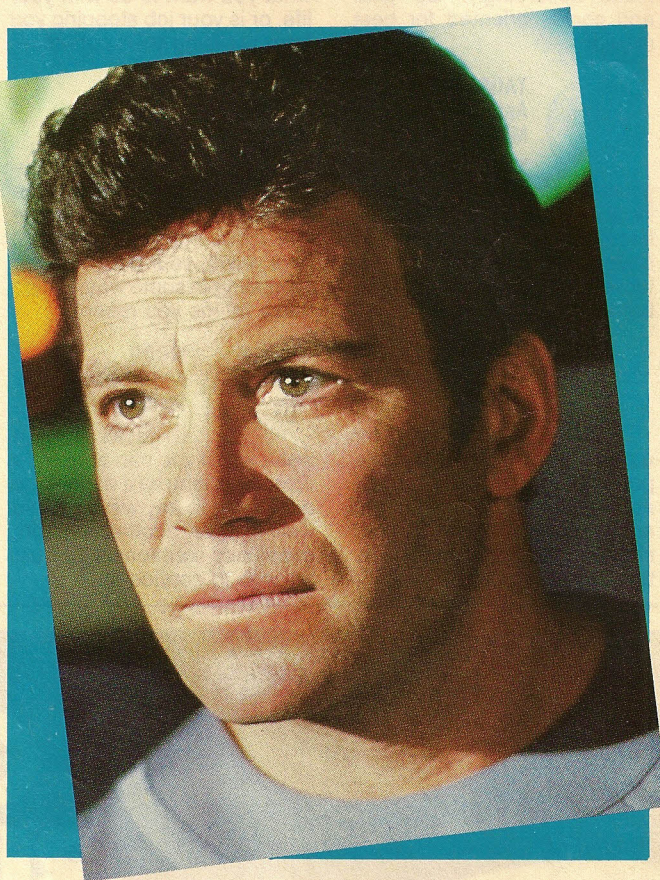

THESE days he's T.J. Hooker, but many will still know him as Star Trek's Captain Kirk of The Enterprise. Either way, William Shatner will be celebrating his birthday on Tuesday, March 22.

He is an Aries with a Taurus moon. What stands out from his chart is a remarkable lack of flexibility. He is a man who doesn't take failure with good grace, and it's a word which probably doesn't even exist in his vocabulary. One of his challenges is to learn that there really is no such thing as failure; it is really no more than not winning, which means that you simply have to take a deep breath and start again.

He has a very deep conflict between trying to be his own person and living up to what everyone else wants from him. He will put pressure on himself, even when pressure is not really there. This will be seen as a great deal of drive, but in reality he is a driven man. He'll need to be this year, as it is shaping up to be very busy.

If his moon is affected (depending on his birth time), then he needs to be careful that he doesn't take on so much that his health will suffer. As a result, he will have to make a major decision this time next year.

★ ★ ★ ARIES-THE YEAR AHEAD ★ ★ ★

SUNDAY, March 20, is the Equinox, the start of the astrological new year, as the sun enters Aries, the first sign of the zodiac.

If you think of the zodiac as an evolutionary process, then Aries is the baby, the sign of new life, with only one thing in mind — to grow and become strong.

Think of your Arian in these terms and you pretty well have it summed up. Mythologically, Aries is Peter Pan, the eternal youth. Remember Peter's need, on the one hand, for Wendy to take care of him and give him some stability, and Tinker Bell on the other, with whom he could have fun!

Remember how life was a game, but he always faced his nemesis, Captain Hook, with enormous courage — even if he did take help from his friends somewhat for granted. It doesn't matter if your Aries is in a male or female body, 9 or 90. I'm sure as you read this, you are shaking your head with an affectionate, exasperated smile.

If your Aries was born at the end of March, he or she will need all your support this year, as Saturn/Uranus is indicating that life is going to do some turn-arounds for them. He or she may have to grow up whether he or she likes it or not.

Those born between March 26 and April 3 will find their priorities changing — there will be disappointments and could well be let-downs as a result.

Those born between April 1 and 4 may not get support for an important situation, and as a result feel a sense of abandonment as they learn to stand on their own two feet.

It is a time for the Aries individuality to show through.

On a happier note, those born between April 15 and 21 will find very positive, but unexpected happenings which they can utilise to get ahead in their lives. For them it is a time to grasp the opportunity.

If born between April 4 and 15 it will be a quiet, relatively uneventful year — unusual for the often fiery Aries personality.

In all, as the sun enters Aries, this is a time for assessment, for analysis of priorities and planning for change. For some, the change is inevitable.

You can ring Chris Turner for your daily astrological guidelines on Telecom's Dial-A-Horoscope service. The number to ring is 11635 throughout the whole of Australia.